Serving New York & New Jersey

The Waters

New York and New Jersey are home to the Hudson River Striped Bass spawning grounds. April is the start of the spectacular Spring run! Striped Bass up to 40 lbs. invade our waters and provide top notch Fly and Light tackle opportunities. Bass blitzes are a common sight, casting a fly or lure into a feeding frenzy is a sure way to hook up. In May, schools of marauding Bluefish enter our waters and provide consistent top water action. This is a good time for the beginning angler to catch his or her first fish, using a fly or artificial lure. The Summer months bring Weakfish (sea trout) into the mix. They are admired for their beauty and tide running fighting tactics. In late August the speedsters (False Albacore) arrive and provide the ultimate challenge! Early Fall is the time to get a New York Slam (Striped Bass, Bluefish & False Albacore). The late Fall Run is extraordinary, with Bass blitzes lasting for hours. This is the opportune time to catch a trophy fish.
